

Heartwood Victorian Bat House

HTW-010

Forget the myth: bats aren't blind; they enjoy the use of all five senses. Another sense—the sense of style, both the bats and yours—will be delighted by this Victorian gem. Horizontal siding on the front panel provides a strategic counterpoint to steeply pitched hand-shingled cypress roof with copper trim. Divided living quarters and a landing pad at the base make this house as functional as it is beautiful. Ready to mount on a pole, building or tree.
